This year we have employed the idea that school resembles a massive movie studio. You'll see our faculty as director and us, the students, as stars. Department studios are evident in our many organizations. You'll see our events as parts of a newsreel and a sports parade summarizing the year's athletic accomplishments. As in the movie industry, Oscar awards are presented to outstanding stars.

Why not join us now in a trip through Movieland, A.H.S.?

Miss Frances Stewart

In Memoriam

To the memory of Miss Frances Stewart, who died January 31, 1952, we dedicate this year's "Clarion."

As dean of girls in Appleton High School from 1948 to 1951, Miss Stewart gained the friendship of all the students by her cheerfulness and school spirit. Her generous attitude for helping others earned for her the admiration and respect of all who knew her.

Born in Bayfield, Wisconsin, on February 11, 1910, she received a bachelor of education degree at Oshkosh State College, and a master's degree in history at the University of Wisconsin. Prior to coming to Appleton, she taught English and social science for twelve years at Two Rivers' Washington High School and six years at the Racine Washington Park High School.

Miss Stewart's affection for Appleton High School was both great and close, and her love of the students and the faculty was one that was roundly reciprocated. We are greatly grieved to write the finish of her tenure at our school.

Administration

Principal Herbert H. Helble

Superintendent John P. Mann

Herbert H. Helble, our efficient and devoted principal, constantly strives to maintain the high objectives of Appleton High School. His ability and experience give us superb leadership and an invaluable example of meeting high standards.

The credit for the effective supervision of the Appleton Public School System goes to Superintendent John P. Mann. Under his able guidance, the schools are run to provide ample opportunities for each school child.

The Appleton School Board, elected by the voters, is an active group constantly working for the best interest of the students. They plan curricula, select teachers and solve the many problems caused by an increased school population. We all appreciate their untiring efforts to give good education to Appleton's citizens of tomorrow.

Seated: Mr. Furminger, Mr. Douglas, Mrs. Hagen, Mr. Strange, Mrs. Davis, Mr. Wollwage; standing: Mr. Keller, Mr. Mann, Mr. Weber.

Assistant Principal, Mr. W. A. Witte.

Mr. Werner Witte is the assistant principal at Appleton High School. His competent supervision plays a major part in making many of our school activities successful. Mr. Witte also manages all athletic events, acts as dean of boys, and teaches in the social science department.

Librarians, Miss Baerwaldt, Miss Mielke.

Librarians Miss Ruth Mielke and Miss Ethelwyn Baerwaldt perform a great service for the students of Appleton High School. It is their competent management and untiring devotion to their work which make the library a special, peaceful haven to each of us as we drift through our busy educational schedules. Miss Mielke and Miss Baerwaldt also supervise a staff of student assistants.

Office Clerks, Miss Strover, Mrs. Mattice.

It is the responsibility of Miss Lois Strover and Mrs. Mildred Mattice, our office clerks, to keep the files of Appleton High School efficiently organized. Their efforts are important in maintaining systematic administration and in enforcing all rules and regulations.

Cafeteria, Mrs. Heckle.

Mrs. Edna Heckle is in charge of Appleton High School's cafeteria. Each morning it is her responsibility to prepare the noon meal and to supervise the girls who serve the food to famished students and teachers. As a result of Mrs. Heckle's constant effort, our cafeteria functions with supreme efficiency.

Standing: Miss Wolf, Miss Kniebusch, Miss Plowright, Mrs. Nienow; seated: Mrs. Himebaugh, Miss Landreman, Miss Klumb, Miss M. Smith, Miss Brooks.

English

Since we must communicate with each other by the medium of language, two years of English are required at Appleton High School. In order to speak and write effectively, it is necessary to apply the principles of usage to our everyday lives. The English department strives to instill in the students the desire to do better by offering a wide variety of interesting projects. Stress is placed on literature, and a unique system of classroom libraries is provided.

Languages

Our foreign language department is determined to bring students to the realization that other lands are interesting and worthwhile too. By studying the languages of people, either ancient or modern, we appreciate the great inheritance we have received through the centuries. Four years of Latin are offered to those who are fascinated by Roman culture and literature. The two-year Spanish and German courses emphasize speaking, writing, and reading.

Miss Kopplin, Mrs. Himebaugh, Miss Kniebusch, Mr. Wieting.

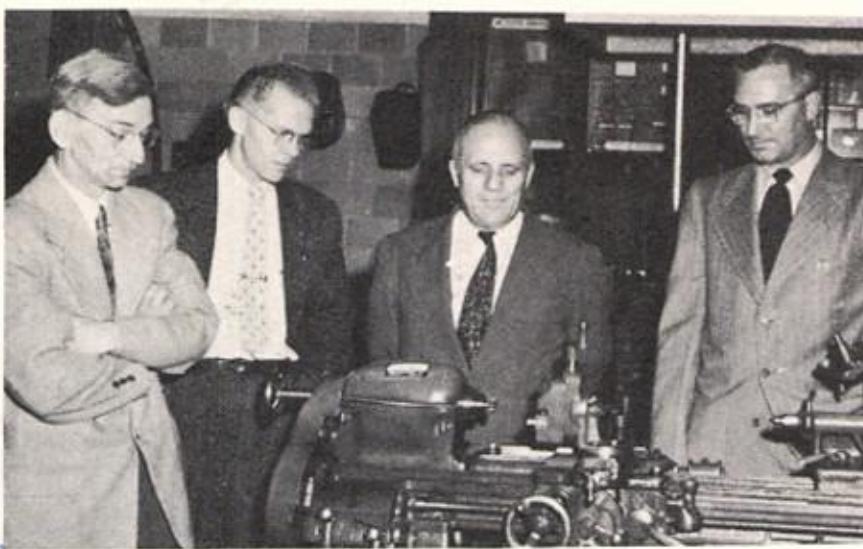

Social Science

Today in our social science studies, we meet the great challenge of this complex world. The students become acquainted with social, economic, and political problems, habits and customs throughout the world. The curriculum includes world history and geography, American history, political science, economics, sociology, and psychology.

Standing: Mr. Thorson, Mr. Goodrich, Mr. Edge, Mr. Sager; seated: Mr. Briese, Mr. Witte, Miss Plowright, Mr. Helble, Mr. Babler.

E.J. Goodrich

Catherine Spence
Miss O'Leary, Miss Spence, Mr. Cameron, Mr. Reppert, Mr. Cotton, Mr. Seims.

Home Economics and Industrial Arts

The aim of the home economics and industrial arts departments of AHS is to prepare students for well-managed, gratifying lives. In home economics classes the modern family scheme is studied from all angles. Food preparation, meal planning, child care, and sewing are stressed. Industrial arts classes give the background for an industrial vocation.

Mr. Wieting, Mr. Kuemmerlein, Miss McKennan, Miss Gerlach, Mr. Bacich, Mr. Moore.

Fine Arts

The fine arts department's chief objective is to broaden an appreciation of the finer arts of music, speech, dramatics, and art. The operetta, Christmas concert, and spring festival are highlights of every year. Speech students gain experience in dramatics, declamation, oratory, debate, and extemporaneous speaking. The art department brings out originality through paints, metal, and wood. The resulting creations are displayed throughout the building.

Mathematics and Science

From the time we learn that two plus two is four until we begin to understand Einstein's theory of relativity, we realize that a knowledge of mathematics and science is most essential in this age. Students, by means of experiments, study the fundamentals of modern science in biology, chemistry, and physics courses. Algebra, plane geometry, third and fourth-year math tend to sharpen the wits and bring about an understanding of number relationships, and formulas.

Mr. Wetak, Miss V. Smith, Mr. Hamann, Mr. Zimmerman, Mr. Scribner, Mr. Pribnow, Mr. Ediger, Mr. Burroughs.

Standing: Mr. Briese, Mr. Krueger, Mr. Thorson, Mr. Simon. Seated: Miss Livermore, Miss Robichaud.

Commercial

Appleton High School is noted for its remarkable commercial department. Its main objective affords endless opportunities for improving efficiency and gaining a high standing in the stenographic profession. The elements of the business cycle, practical office duties, office machine and filing procedures are mastered. Each year business and professional men of Appleton and the surrounding area look to our commercial department for a new group of well-trained typists, stenographers, bookkeepers, and secretaries.

Physical Education and Health

The aim of the physical education department in Appleton High School is first of all to build strong and healthy bodies. The students are taught the value of good health, how to attain it and how to maintain it. The class sessions are devoted to seasonal activities emphasizing physical fitness, agility, and endurance. Home hygiene classes give an introduction to home nursing skills and theory.

Standing: Mr. Witzke, Mr. Dillon, Mr. Black. Seated: Miss Gaertner, Mrs. O'Keefe, Miss Hettig.

Custodians

Our dependable janitors and janitresses are chiefly responsible for the maintenance of our fine high school and its beautifully landscaped grounds. They can always be found, broom or dust cloth in hand, with a bit of conversation and a cheerful smile, while scrubbing and polishing our classrooms and halls to tip-top sparkle. It is this attitude of friendliness which wins respect from the students and helps to lighten the load the custodians carry in giving us this superb service.

Standing: Mr. Peterson, Mr. Campshure, Mr. Arnold, Mr. Rahn. Seated: Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Kohler, Mr. Weidman, Mr. Jury, Mr. Southhard.

Assistant Directors

Under the able leadership of Dick Boronow, president; Janet Heselton, secretary-treasurer; and Glynn Roehr, sergeant-at-arms; the Student Council of Appleton High School completed another useful year.

One of the first jobs of the Student Council was planning the 1951 Homecoming celebration. Council members again made and sold hom-poms and supervised plans for the parade and the dance. The Council also presented the other Student Council Dances throughout the year. Each individual member also took charge of the collection of finance plan fees and other matters in his homeroom.

The recipient of this award is chosen for his scholarship and active service to the club.

A traditional activity of the club is singing carols in the halls at Christmas time with the other language clubs. Business meetings are held once each month at school; the social meetings are held at the homes of the members.

Their job was to transfer pictures and information about activities to the pages of the "Clarion." Dick Rosensweig and his staff of photographers took all pictures, developed, and printed them. Jerry Polisky headed athletics.

Under the guidance of Miss Elizabeth Plowright, faculty adviser; Helen Godfrey, sponsorship manager; Rosann Heinritz, business manager; and Ed Cooney, subscription manager, the "Clarion" business staff is responsible for the financial stability and successful publication of the "Clarion." Keeping business records, finding new sponsors, selling subscriptions and passing out "Clarions" are only a small part of the duties they perform. The job of sponsorship manager is to conduct all meetings, record all sponsorships, assign names to be solicited and check on responses of each member. The business manager keeps a record of all business transactions and keeps complete double ledger of all receipts and expenditures. The subscription manager takes subscriptions from the teachers and students who are not in the finance plan and also supervises the circulation of the yearbook.

The publication of "Patterns of Star Dust," a book of creative writing done by A.H.S. students, is the major project of Quill and Scroll. Members of the club are in charge of advertising, selling, editing, and proofreading the booklet.

Theater Arts

A membership of some two hundred students makes Curtain Call the largest organization in the school. The group is divided into three sections: Acting, with Miss Ruth McKennan and Mr. Elmer Wieting as advisers; Production, directed by Mr. Jack Burroughs and Mr. Owen Reppert; Make-Up advised by Mrs. Gene Nienow. A member may belong to any or all of these divisions if he fulfills the requirements. One joint meeting and one group meeting are held each month.

During the year the Acting group puts on several one-act plays. The production crew stages these and other student presentations such as the Soph Talent Show and the operetta. The Make-Up corps creates the make-up for all these programs.

Premier Showing

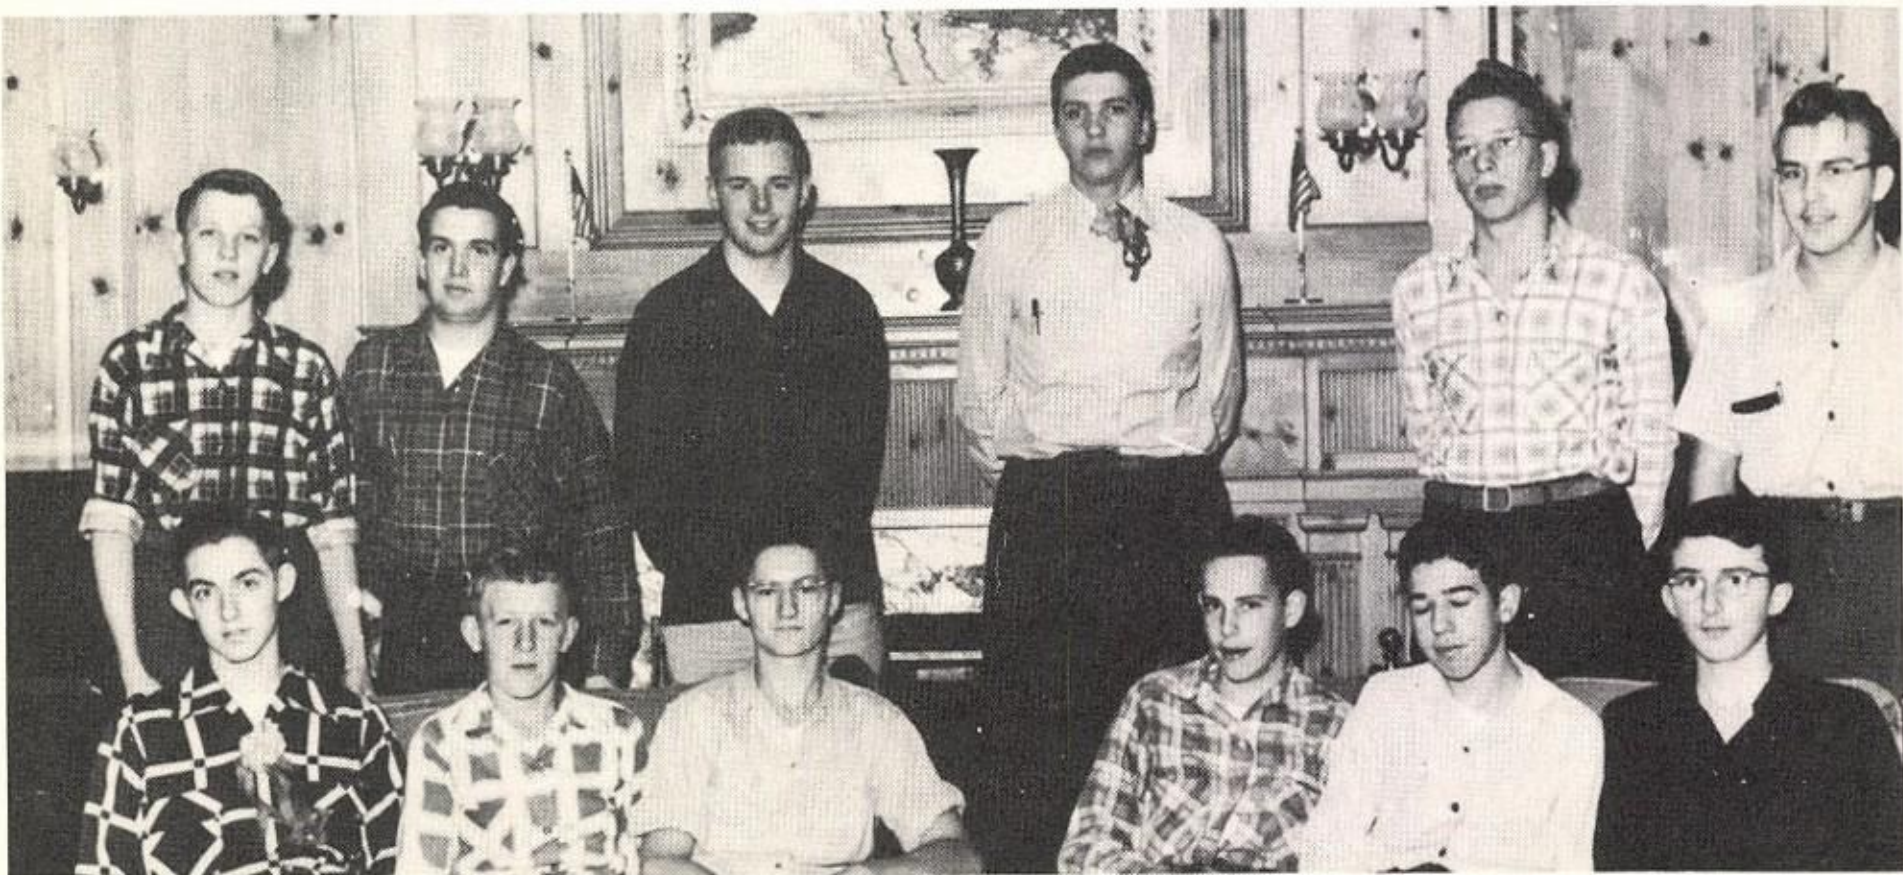

Standing: Krueger, Pitz, Van Handel, Rubbert, Strieby; seated: Hardt, McEathron, Mr. Babler, Krueger, Stueck, Frank.

The members of the Audio Visual Club make it possible for us to see movies in our classes and in the auditorium. They also learn how to run the tape recorder, take care of microphones at games and assemblies, and are always ready to help the teachers in the operation of the equipment. Club members must be scholastically eligible and show adeptness for handling equipment.

This year the co-presidents are Tom Pitz, Bill Rubbert, and Jim Krueger. Other officers are Bob Van Handel, vice-president; Jim McEathron, secretary; and Jim Strieby, treasurer; Mr. Marvin Babler is the club sponsor.

Standing: Dullea, Rank, Taylor, Rath, Kieffer, Bessett; seated: Timm, Wunderlich, Popp, Schutz, Retzlaff, Casperson.

Standing: Hardt, Aures, Jaffe, Parker, Koestler; seated: Stack, Yule, Olson, Griesbach.

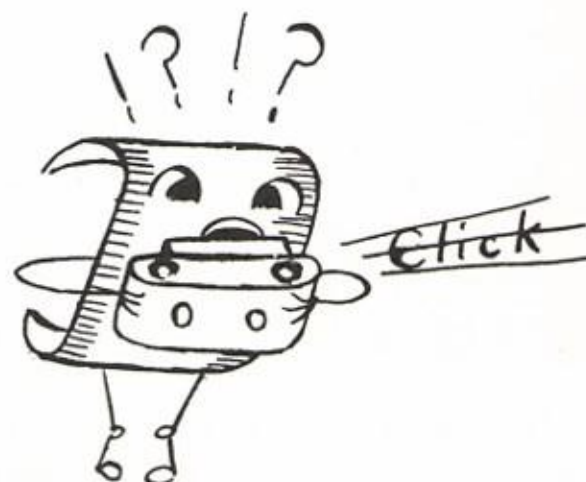

Standing: Langenberg, Rosensweig, Babino, Bethe, Young, Tirums; seated: Olson, Cooney, Ohman, Schmidt.

The Camera Club, advised by Mr. Zimmerman, meets every other Tuesday in room 355. Movies, field trips, and talks by various speakers were some of the activities in which the club took part. Working in the dark room and criticizing the pictures they took helped to further both the members' interest and ability in photography.

Early in the year a contest was held in which Mary Aures received nine awards. Among these were three firsts in the animals, scenes, and people classes. Maurice Stack also took a first award under the miscellaneous class. Other awards were taken by Dick Rosensweig, Rasma Tirums, and Germaine Koestler.

Officers of the club this year were Dick Ohman, president; Mary Aures, vice-president; and Germaine Koestler, secretary.

Standing: Norman, Odegaard, Schreiter, Cohen, Park, Stammer; seated: Cloak, Le Moine.

Studio Artists

Art Workshop is an organization made up of students enrolled in the art classes. On Wednesday nights the members may come and work on any individual art project which interests them. The business meetings are held on the first and third Wednesday of each month. Presiding over these meetings is Andy Lou Cloak, president, assisted by Deidre Norman and Geraldine Le Moine, vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

The members work individually on sketches, water colors, oil paintings, ceramics, block printing, jewelry, and numerous other forms of art. Art Workshop also provides posters for school activities and displays.

Under the supervision of Mr. Kenneth Kuemmerlein, the members learn about art through discussions, field trips, and by actually carrying out different phases of art work.

Footloose and Fancy Free

Imagination, originality, and dancing ability are some traits needed for girls belonging to Orchesis. In order to become a member of this club a girl must first prove these traits in an original dance.

Long discussion and preparation precede the assembly program which is presented every spring. This program consists of numbers in the interpretive dance style.

The officers this year were president, Dorothy Langdok; vice-president, Janet Heselton; secretary, Pat Lemons; treasurer, Pat Pickett. Miss Kay Hettig is the club adviser.

"Music by the Angels"

The Appleton High School Chorus, under the direction of Miss Marian Gerlach, highlights many school activities each year. Perhaps the most prominent of these is the annual operetta in the fall. This year Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" was presented, and some of its delightful Japanese flavor still lingers in the chorus room. The chorus also participated in a Christmas concert for the public and presented a Yuletide program for an assembly. Two groups of carolers, made from chorus personnel, brightened the holiday season for many civic organizations and shut-ins. In the spring the chorus journeyed to Sheboygan to compete in the Fox Valley Vocal Festival. Solos, ensembles, and full chorus numbers were performed. Besides these public appearances, the chorus members give programs for each other during the class periods. Perhaps the most enjoyable of these is the farewell party for graduating seniors.

Under Miss Gerlach's spirited leadership, the Appleton High School chorus is a worthwhile organization and a credit to our school.

And the Band Played On

The band of AHS had to do just that when it was suddenly left without the competent direction of Mr. E. C. Moore, who resigned early in October. The band missed Mr. Moore, but proved its ability under the capable Mr. Fred Schroeder, who soon filled the position of band director.

Among the many appearances of the band this year were the various parades, student assembly, Christmas concert, annual music festival, and performances for the junior high schools and for graduation. Probably the most important of these was the district festival for which many solos and ensembles had to be perfected in addition to numbers for the entire band.

The orchestra employs some of the band members permanently, and a number of the instrumentalists accompanied the operetta this year.

The volunteer members of the pep band, who are always "Johnny on the spot" to play for pep sessions and games, provide the players and student body with school spirit.

Hi Diddle Diddle

To someone coming through the music section during third hour, the noise might seem unintelligible. But any student of music would realize that the orchestra, which rehearses during period three, is merely tuning up. As Mr. Anthony Bacich raises his baton for the downbeat, all is attention and orderliness. Music flows and art flourishes.

The activities of the orchestra are many. They conduct one noon rehearsal each week so that band members may practice with them. In the spring, the artists traveled to Kaukauna for the Fox Valley festival. Solos, ensembles, and full orchestra numbers were performed.

A curator was elected by the group to care for the museum where specimens of historic and natural interest are on exhibit. Other club members helped to make repairs and to build bird feeders and cages for the biology department.

The club developed a school forest near town to serve as an outside laboratory in the study of conservation. Perhaps the most familiar project of our Nature Club is the wreath-making which the students undertake to decorate the halls and classrooms at Christmas time.

Every Friday afternoon the Girls' Athletic Association under the direction of Miss Pauline Gaertner meets in the gym. These girls not only compete in such sports as basketball, volleyball, softball, and speedball, but are also kept busy at all the home basketball games selling pop, candy bars, and ice cream.

This year instead of electing officers, girls were chosen to be heads of sports and to schedule the various noon-hour activities. Volleyball was headed by Rita Wautlet; basketball, Mary Hollenback; baseball, Helen Hoffmann; and bowling by Arlyene Hinz, Mary Sengstock and Lois Bohnsack.

When a girl earns 250 points, she is eligible for an award. In the first year, she receives an emblem, the second year an "A", and the third year an identification bracelet. Each girl earns the points by selling at basketball games and participating in the GAA sports and extra activities such as girls' bowling, and noon-hour sports.

Word Weavers

Under the guidance of its coach, Mr. Hubert Wetak, the Appleton debate team forged into the limelight by winning third place in the 1951 state tournament. Three of the four members of the 1951 "A" team returned in '52 and dominated the scene in Fox River Valley debate competition. During the 1952 season, Appleton won first place at a Neenah invitational meet and followed with second place at a state-wide invitational tournament at Carroll College. In the state elimination tournaments, Appleton qualified for the sectional meet by winning second place in the Oshkosh District contest. At the Stevens Point sectional Appleton qualified for the Madison state tourney.

Members of the 1952 "A" squad were Jim Close, Oscar Schmiede, John Helble, and Jerry Polisky. "A" alternates were Majorie Call and Naomi Cohen. "B" squad members were Kermit Seehawer, George Cameron, Keith Olson, Roger Stenlund, Helen Rehbein, and Bob Krueger.

Keynotes to Success

Success—that is what the members of Commercial Club hope to obtain in the future. They are preparing themselves for future vocations as secretaries, accountants, bookkeepers, and other jobs in the commercial field. This club, which is composed of seniors who major in commercial studies, meets bi-weekly, alternating business and social meetings.

The club receives valuable information from guest speakers and from fellow students who hold various positions in the commercial field.

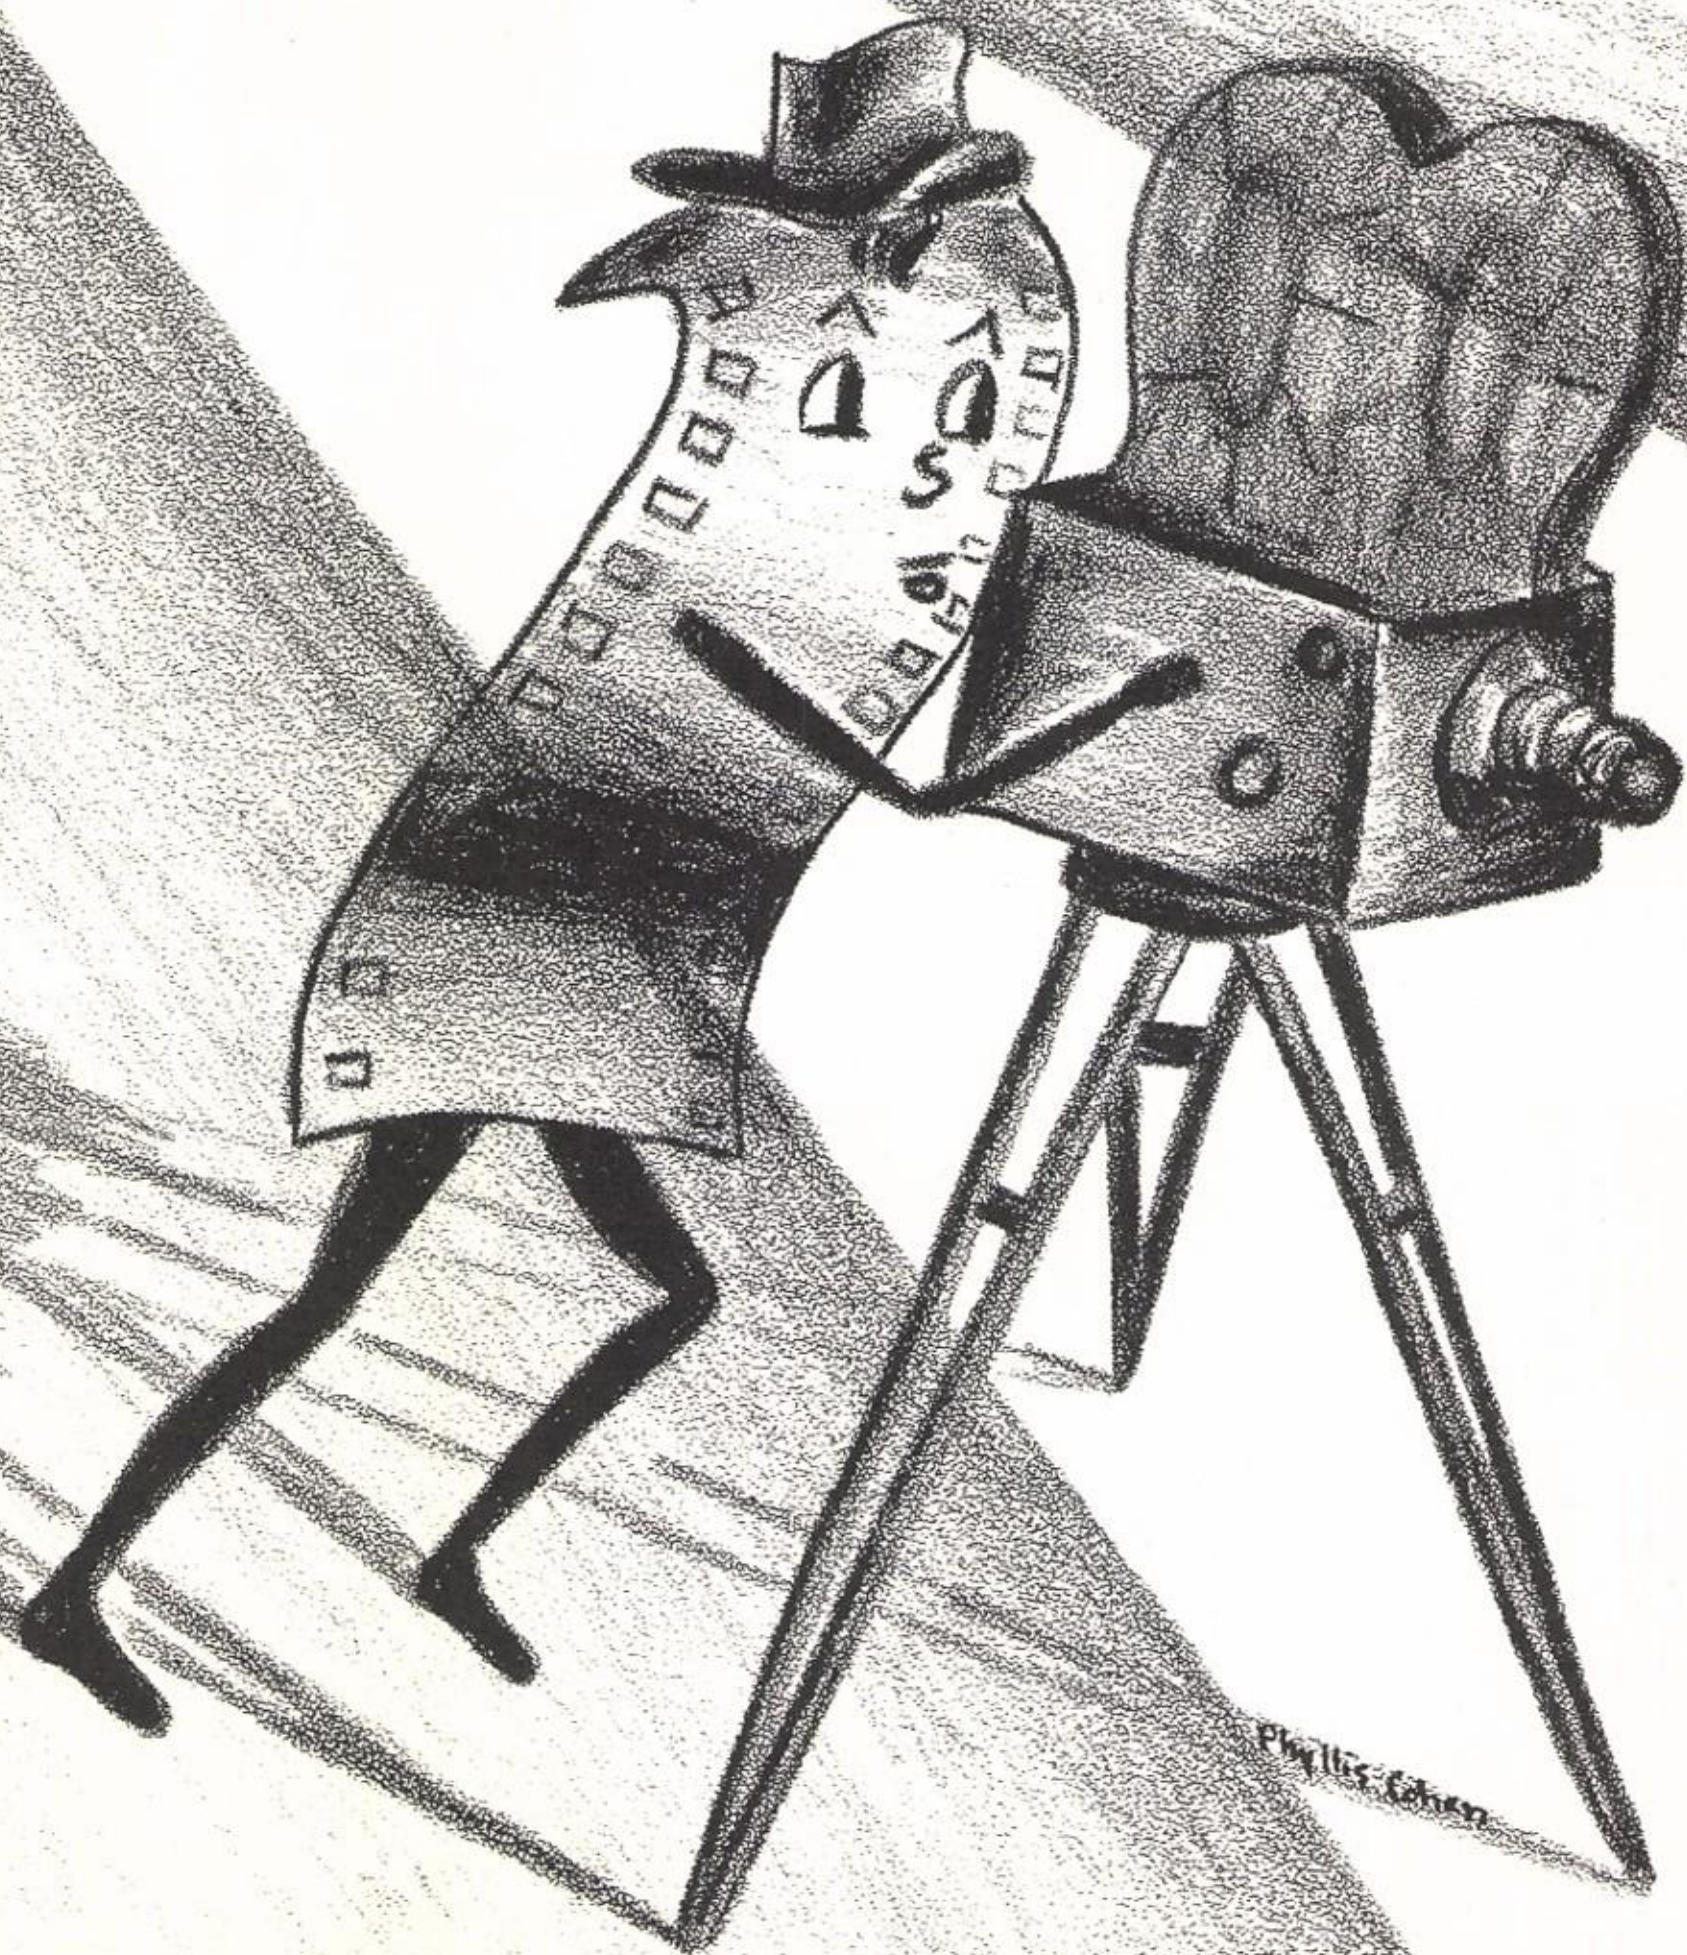

A traditional activity of the club is the printing and planning of homecoming programs for the student body. The members also type the entries to "Patterns of Star Dust" for the students who are unable to type them themselves.

Officers of the club this year are Barbara Becker, president; Jackie Kunstman, vice-president; Beverly Nagreen, secretary; Kathleen Girard, treasurer; Pat Ney, Tally reporter; and Bernice Gandt, historian. Faculty advisers for commercial club are: Mr. Bruno Krueger, Miss Laura Livermore, Mr. Peter Briesse, Miss Leone Robichaud, Mr. Herbert Simon, and Mr. Vernon Thorson.

Showboat

Under the guidance of its two capable "captains," the sophomore's "Show Boat" paddled down an imaginary Mississippi River, while its troupe of entertainers saw to it that the passengers enjoyed the trip. Various acting groups produced the skits "The Missing Sophomore," "An Udder Catastrophe," and "The Stool Pigeon," and a girls' chorus sang one of the most popular melodies from the musical, "Show Boat," "Make Believe." Several young dancers demonstrated their talents in a tap number, a ballet and toe duet, and a modern dance depicting the sailors' life. At the end of the journey, the spectator-travelers left the sophomore talent show well satisfied and in good humor.

Homecoming Hubbub

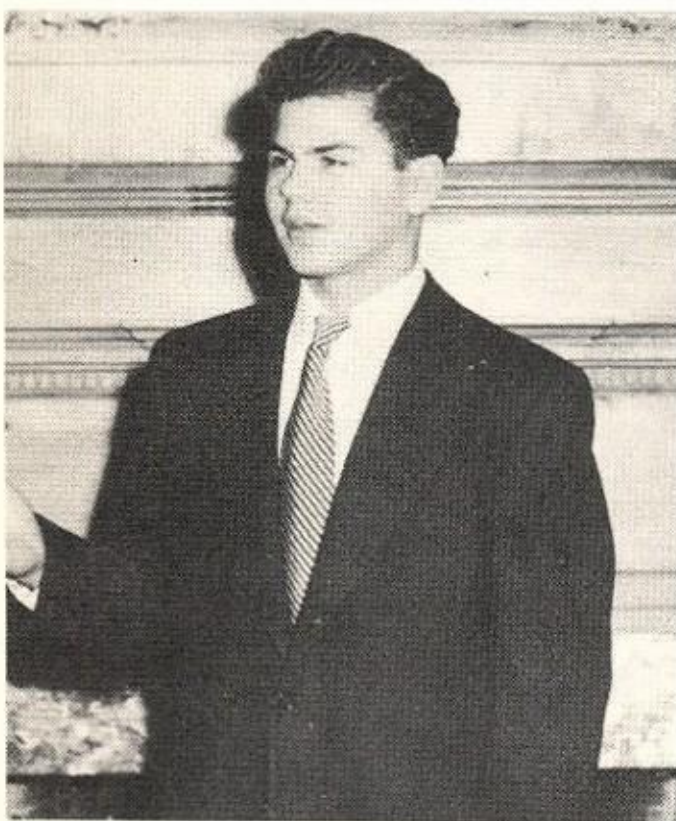

Appleton High School played host to Sheboygan Central for its annual homecoming game on October 27. The day's festivities began in the morning with the traditional parade. Spurred on by enthusiastic spectators, the Terrors triumphed over the Central team with a thrilling 16-0 victory. A perfect climax to the day was the dance which honored the football players for their victory. Through the combined efforts of faculty members and students alike, our 1951 Homecoming was truly a tremendous success.

Silver Tongues

On November twenty-eighth, five students presented their original ideas on current problems at the 30th annual Heiss Oratorical Recital dedicated to William Heiss, the first AHS student to lose his life in World War I.

First place went to Oscar Schmiede, who spoke on "Monuments to Freedom," keying his ideas to the individual. He stated that America was the "stronghold of freedom."

Second place went to Jim Close, who chose "Be Ye Brothers" for the theme of his oration. He told how prejudice is acquired and the visible effects on prejudiced people and their victims.

Dick Boronow spoke on the topic of vital concern, "Why Are We Fighting in Korea?" Naomi Cohen entitled her oration on religion, "The Necessary Ingredient." "Political Leadership" was the theme for Bill Rubbert's oration on better government.

Eloquent Elocutionists

"Presumed Lost" by James Ullman was realistically told by Dick Boronow, characterizing Martin Kepp, a football hero, who hating war becomes involved in it. It won first place in the serious declamations January 24.

Sue Benson, with simplicity and poise, related, "When Hannah was Eight Years Old" by Katherine Peabody Girling. This story centered on the responsibilities of a Swedish child.

"With Everlasting Love" by Maily Campbell, featuring a Chinese girl who wants to teach children in a settlement house was given by Sue Wadsworth. Displaying immense feeling, Mary McCarthy narrated "The Boy" by Chester Fernald, based on the fear of a lie. Barbara Baum rendered, "The Lady With a Lamp" by Samuel Davenport, with stirring emotion.

Miss Ruth McKennan directed the group.

Faye Brewster's rendition of "The Children's Play" by Germaine Haney won first place in the humorous declamation, January 31. With beguiling wit, Faye depicted the hardships of a director rehearsing a children's play.

Muggs, an exceptional air-dale, was the subject of Mary Bosser's declam, "The Dog That Bit People," by James Thurber. "Papa Is All," by Patterson Green was effectively portrayed by Andy Lou Cloak with a Pennsylvania Dutch accent. "At the Information Desk," by Rex Whitty described a hectic day in a department store which Gloria Zeegers delivered with animated gestures. Mary Peotter very enthusiastically gave enlivening incidents from radio programs in "The Show Must Go On and On" by Edna Means. The group was coached by Mr. Sager.

Off the Cuff

After diligent preparation, George Cameron, Robert Krueger, Jerry Polisky, William Rubbert, Roger Stenlund, and Todd Zeiss participated in the annual Bolton-Roth Extemporaneous Speaking Recital April 17, 1952.

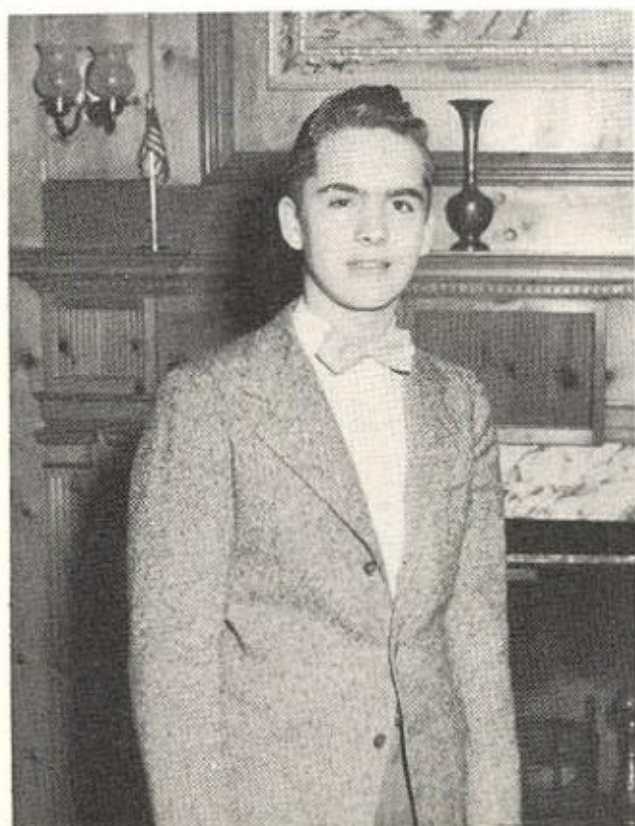

Before the recital each speaker thoroughly studied topics which included: Inflation, NATO, German Unity, and other phases of international news. April 17 each boy drew five topics, selected one, and was given an hour to prepare his five-to-seven minute talk.

The participants, coached by Mr. E. John Goodrich, all did a fine job.

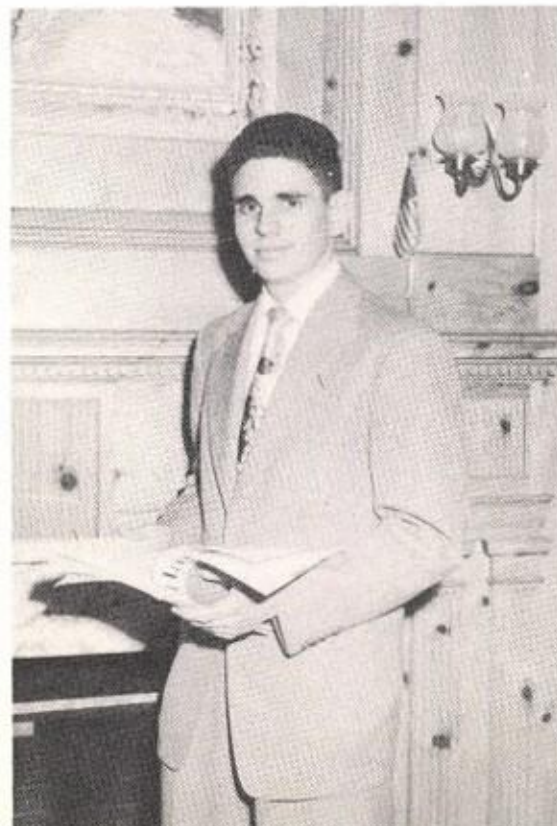

Following the contest, the boys were each given the official forensic pin. Jerry Polisky was judged the best speaker and will have his name in the school's Hall of Fame.

Foreign Fantasy

Singing of the Fates and their sorrow and happiness are: Bill Rubbert, Don Potter, Helen Godfrey, and Reed Taylor.

Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" was presented by the Appleton High School chorus as its sixth annual operetta.

Nanki Poo, played by Claude Beavers, was in love with Yum-Yum, Diana Schiller. However, Katisha, Helen Godfrey, was determined to marry Nanki-Poo who was the son of the Mikado, played by Don Potter. The Lord High Executioner was bound to break up the romance, and Reed Taylor did an outstanding job of handling the part. Other members of the royal palace were Pitti-Sing, JoAnne Buesing; Peep-Bo, Connie Ponath; Pooh-Bah, Bill Rubbert; and Pish-Tush, Clyde Arft.

The Curtain Call Production crews did a splendid job of creating the oriental mood. Scenery and lighting were under the direction of Mr. Jack Burroughs, and Mrs. Gene Nienow was in charge of make-up. The choral and dramatic work were coached by Miss Marion Gerlach and Miss Ruth McKennan, respectively.

Where Love Abides

Curtain Call's annual Christmas play brought to us the reality of a soldier's Christmas in Korea. Lonely and homesick, the soldier dreamed of home where his family and his girl were spending the Christmas holidays.

As he sat on the barren hillside, he saw the vision of the First Christmas long, long ago. He saw the poor shepherds on the hillside greeted by the joyous angels. The three wise men bearing their gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh passed before his eyes. Two women from the town traveled to the manger, bearing their humble gifts. His thoughts followed the worshippers, and he, too, saw the manger and the miracle of the Christ. As the play ended, a cannon roared, and the weary soldier trudged back to join his comrades in battle.

Miss Ruth McKennan directed the acting, Mr. Jack Burroughs supervised the backstage activities, and Mrs. Gene Nienow directed the makeup.

Selected Shorts

Curtain Call began its year with a comedy, "Glamorizing Joan," which was a big hit because of its typical application to our modern life. Joan tried to fascinate who she thought was a young admirer but who turned out to be her married cousin. After many embarrassing explanations, Joan won back her beau.

The confusion and tension of a girl's wedding day was brought out in "I Love You Truly." The bride's family and the groom's family ended up in a state of nervous collapse while the bride-to-be and her man eloped.

The next one-act play of the year was a mystery called "House of Greed." The story centered around a selfish old maid and her love for money. When her murder occurred, many people were suspected but finally the killer is discovered and everyone gets their rightful share of the greedy woman's fortune.

The cast of the big thriller of the year consisted of Sandra Neuman, Clyde Arft, JoAnn Buesing, Bob Krueger, Shirley Smyrneos, and Tom Bloomer.

Quiet Summer

Does it look as though Close is just Benson's boss?

Three cheers for "Quiet Summer"! Again the annual senior class play was a huge success.

The plot centered around James Clark (Jim Close), his sister's two children, Pamela and Sonny (Faye Brewster and Dick Boronow), and Clark's secretary, Helen Russell (Sue Benson). Others taking part were Lillian and Clifford Young (Sue Wadsworth and Oscar Schmiede), Carrie (Rose Ann Heinritz), Tony (John Helble), Leslie (Bill Joyce), Jeanie (Shirley and Gloria Zeegers), Henry (Don Massey), Harriet (Mary McCarthy), Bill (George Cameron), Betsy (Sally Van Ryzin), Esther (Pat Petersen), Jimmy (Claude Beavers), Fredericka (Helen Casper), and Frances (Helen Godfrey).

From the Stage

As in the past, the school year of 1951-52 followed through with a series of assembly programs that entertained as well as educated. Musical programs delighted us so that we left the auditorium humming snatches of song; speeches inspired us to improve ourselves and added to our storehouse of knowledge. We went on trips with museum crews, followed the graceful movements of the ballet, and applauded with delight the sage advice of Mr. Schacht. Truly, the assembly year was one of variety and depth.

Following two consecutive noteworthy seasons, Ade Dillon's gridders emerged in 1951 with a record of 2 wins, 5 losses and one tie to finish sixth in FRVC competition.

The Valley Conference displayed its strongest teams in recent years. Green Bay West, Fond du Lac, Green Bay East, and Oshkosh composed the first division with Manitowoc, Appleton, Sheboygan North and Sheboygan Central in the second division.

Appleton's opener against Menasha was a preview of things to come. Menasha showed the class that led them to an unbeaten season with Appleton first to fall, 13-7.

A determined Appleton crew set out to make amends against its first conference foe, Sheboygan North. Determination was not enough, however. Everything in the books went wrong that night. Loss number two was pinned on Appleton in the form of a 23-6 defeat.

Appleton showed traits of inconsistency by winning its next ball game against a highly rated Fond du Lac team by a 7-6 score. Fond du Lac would have shared the championship with West had Appleton lost to the Cardinals.

Fond du Lac apparently took too much out of the Terrors. Championship-bound Green Bay West rambled over Appleton 20-0.

Green Bay East, the next to face the Blue and Orange, had its championship 1950 team almost intact; but Green Bay had to settle for a 0-0 tie against Appleton's finest defensive performance of the season.

Appleton looked sharp against Oshkosh, but untimely defensive lapses gave the Indians a 14-7 victory.

Hapless Sheboygan Central trudged into town and was clipped 16-0. Coaches Dillon and Hamann substituted freely with second and third string reserves holding Central with no trouble over half the game.

A colorless Terror grid season was climaxed by a 13-0 loss at Manitowoc.

Appleton's fighting Terrors take the field led by Co-Captains Glynn Roehr and Allan Coenen.

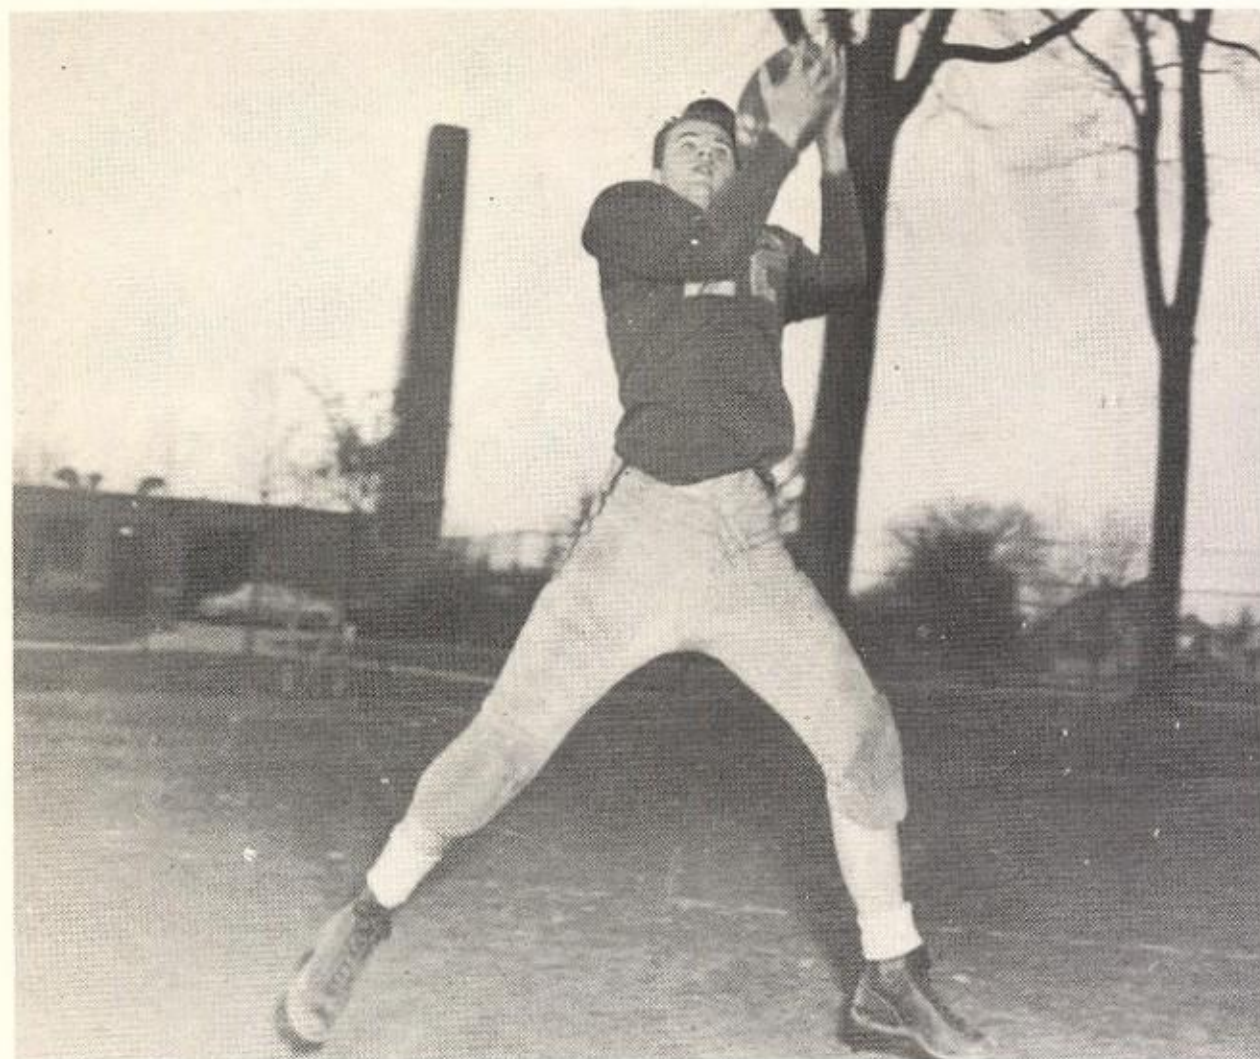

"Hit 'em again, harder! harder!" Appleton linemen perform in a bruising practice session.

On paper, the Terrors gave promise of being a strong ball club. Their line was husky and the backs fast and aggressive, but the right combination of blocking and backfield momentum occasioned too infrequently to result in game-winning touchdowns. Assistant Coach Ray Hamann built a strong line but lacked the speed and maneuverability required of a championship unit. Hamann built his forward wall around Dick Derfus, Wayne Kain, Dick Lehman, Cliff Williams, Bob Meyer, Gene Weber and Ralph McHugh. Early in the season, guard Joe Mielke, a standout as a junior, was injured, and the Terror line felt his loss. Derfus was picked at a tackle spot on the all-conference team and received praise as an outstanding lineman from many valley coaches.

Vern Bjerkvold picks up steam and heads for the goal line.

Dillon's backfield corps consisted of a number of speedy, elusive runners. Glenn Kielgas, Ray Brandl, Jim Heimmerman and Ab Coenen were the mainstays of the offensive backfield. Brandl, a junior, gave indications of developing into a topnotch line buster. Break-away power such as possessed by junior halfback Heimmerman was one of the elements absent in the remainder of the Terror backfield. Coenen was bruising in his role of blocking back. The throwing end of Appleton's passing attack was handled by Glenn Kielgas. Kielgas's pitching was generally accurate but the times his receiver "couldn't quite hang on" prevented a number of scores from being entered in the record book.

Co-captain Glynn Roehr

Glynn Roehr, tall, husky end, shared the 1951 co-captaincy. Roehr had the respect of his teammates and proved to be a strong leader and morale builder. As a junior, Big Glynn was mighty impressive at his end spot in the Appleton line. He showed offensive ability and was outstanding as a defensive wing. Ade Dillon and Ray Hamann expected Roehr to have a fruitful season as a senior. Unfortunately illness and injury were Roehr's constant companions, causing him to miss two complete games and reducing his effectiveness in several others. Roehr was a scrappy and alert ballplayer whenever in the Terror lineup. Co-Captain Roehr was typical of a hard-hitting and clean-cut athlete, a definite asset to his school and team.

One of the shining lights in Appleton's 1951 football team was Co-Captain Allan "Ab" Coenen. Coenen quarterbacked the Terror squad and largely through his field-generalship and captaincy, the morale and spirit of the team were held high at all times. Playing at the blocking back spot in Appleton's single-wing, Ab handled himself skillfully and with assurance on the field of play. Defensively he was considered in many circles as the standout safety man of the Valley Conference. Coenen was honored for his gridiron efforts by receiving the "Most Valuable Player" award and was a selection on the All-Conference team.

"Kick those legs, bend those knees, let's get some spirit!" Such was the call that rang out from Coach Gus Ediger as the Terrors Bees began practice for their 1951 season.

On opening the season, the Bees entertained Neenah, but our forces could not quite keep up with their pace, and the Appleton eleven took a back seat, losing 18-6.

At Menasha the story grew worse, for the Junior Bluejays displayed an even stronger team and defeated the Terror Jayvees 40-0.

At Green Bay West, the Bees began to click. The team pushed over two touchdowns while holding the West Jayvees scoreless. The Appleton defense came up with a safety to help the cause. This 14-0 victory was the first of the year.

Appleton was next host to the Green Bay East Jayvees and the Bees, inspired by the previous week's victory, again whitewashed a Green Bay opponent by winning 13-0. For East, it was a game of fumbles of which the Appleton "11" took advantage.

After the game with Oshkosh was postponed, Appleton dumped Clintonville in the final game 19-6. This brought the record to three wins and two losses for the B-squadders.

On the whole, the young Terrors, who were mostly sophomores, displayed fine teamwork, both on offense and defense. Towards the end of the gridiron season, their ball handling became sharper and their blocking of a nature that thrilled the spectators. This team, ably coached by Gus Ediger and assistant Vernon Zimmerman, should enlighten many of the worries of A squad Coach Ade Dillon next year.

Cagy Cagers

Roehr racks up a Terror score.

For a team that started like a house afire, Appleton's final won and lost record in the high school basketball world is a little confusing. Though the Terrors did finish with an overall slate of 11 wins and 9 defeats, the conference scoreboard shows only 6 wins, 8 losses, and fifth place in the FRVC for the Blue and Orange.

Appleton startled most observers by dumping both Neenah and Menasha in the season's first tests for the Myrlon Seims' aggregation. Neenah fell 50-48, and the Menasha Bluejays bowed in another thrilling non-conference tilt, 55-53, the following week.

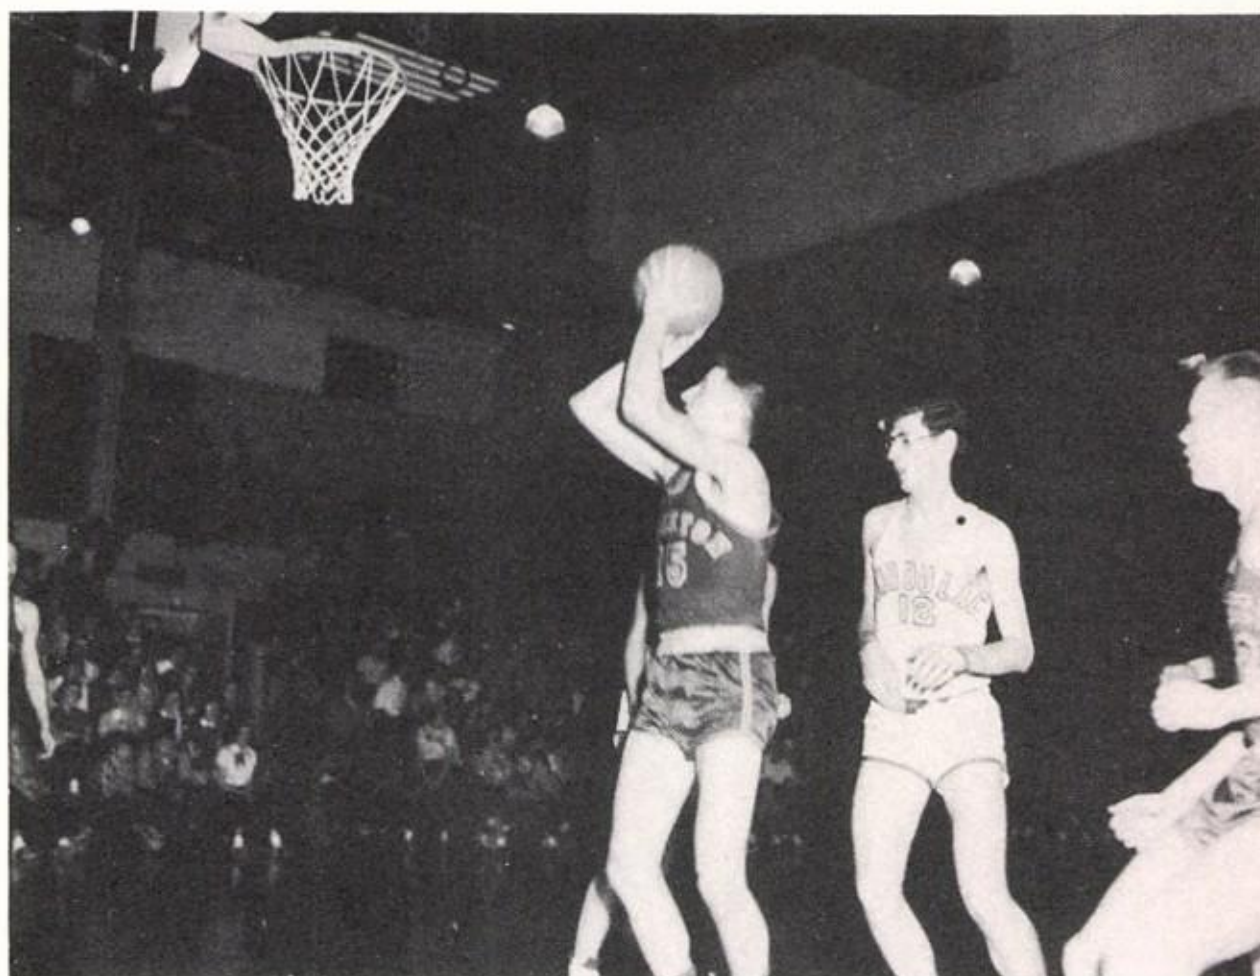

Appleton knocked off mighty Oshkosh, 47-46, in the conference curtain-raiser. Oshkosh had a team averaging 6' 4" and was tabbed to take the conference championship, which they eventually did.

Sheboygan Central proved Appleton's first stumbling block. In the final three minutes of the game as Appleton was pulling away from the Redmen, a reserve Central guard pumped in three long set shots within 60 seconds. The effect was demoralizing to Appleton rooters and players as the Terrors failed to retaliate and were beaten 39-35.

The initial loss didn't faze the Terrors as they copped their next five straight and were riding high in first place when the roof really fell in. A 37-32 loss to East Green Bay was the first of seven for Appleton in the last nine games of the conference season, resulting in a second division berth for the AHS quintet.

Following conference play, Appleton entered the WIAA tournaments for the first time in 25 years. The "now hot, now cold" Appleton crew was primed for the Menasha regional tournament and defeated a heavily favored Kimberly team in the first round of play. After losing starting guard Jack Grist, who twisted his ankle during the Kimberly upset, Appleton faced the semi-finals of the tournament minus the services of three of the five boys who formed the Terror quintet that won eight out of the season's first nine games. A "patched up" Appleton team was eliminated by Kaukauna.

Jolting Jayvees

Bjerkvold, jumps! shoots! scores?

Although the Appleton "Bees" could have had a better season, they did display fine basketball play. Coach Thorson's boys were skilled in every department of the game. They opened the season against Neenah and lost 33-32. Against Menasha they went down to defeat, 50-41.

In the first conference game the Oshkosh "Jayvees" squeezed out a 58-53 victory. The Appleton five lost its fourth straight game 44-28. Appleton then turned the tables and beat West 40-37. The Terror "Bees" beat Fondy next 40-29. In another close game, the Appleton quintet were turned back by North, 45-42. The boys from A.H.S. then thumped East 41-16. The last game of the first round of the circuit was another defeat for the Junior Varsity by one point. Manty was the victor of the game.

Appleton then lost four straight games, to Oshkosh, 36-27; to Central, 41-22; to West, 31-27 and to Fond du Lac, 42-39. Appleton captured two straight games over North 33-30 and over Manitowoc, 36-31. In the final game Appleton lost to East Jayvees, 44-38. The close of the season had Appleton with only five wins and eleven losses.

"Tennis, Anyone?"

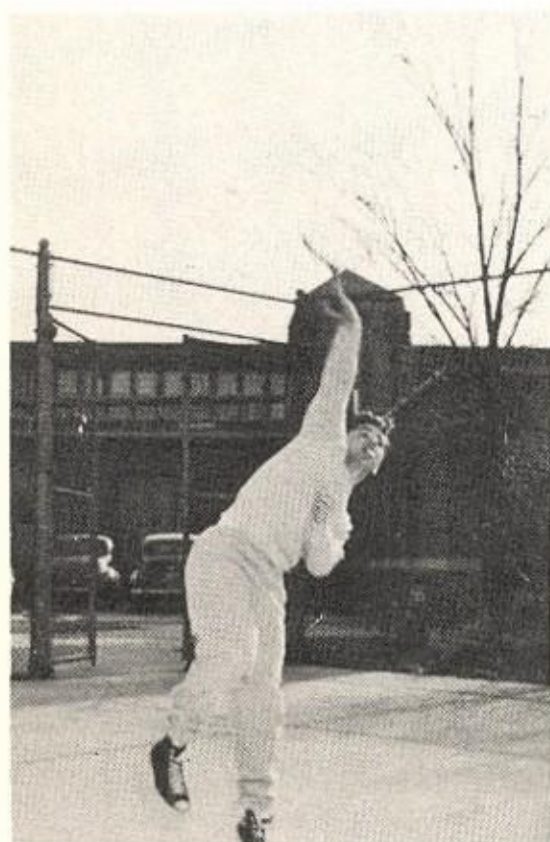

Three seniors and a group of inexperienced but promising underclassmen turned out for the Appleton High School tennis squad. Coach Ade Dillon had only one letterman at his disposal and gave a great deal of attention to developing material for the coming two seasons.

Thirteen matches were scheduled for the season including the Fox River Valley Conference meet at Manitowoc. Appleton opened its season against the always tough alumni and followed with home and home matches against the Lawrence freshman team, Menasha, Manitowoc, Green Bay East, Green Bay West, Neenah and finally the conference tournament.

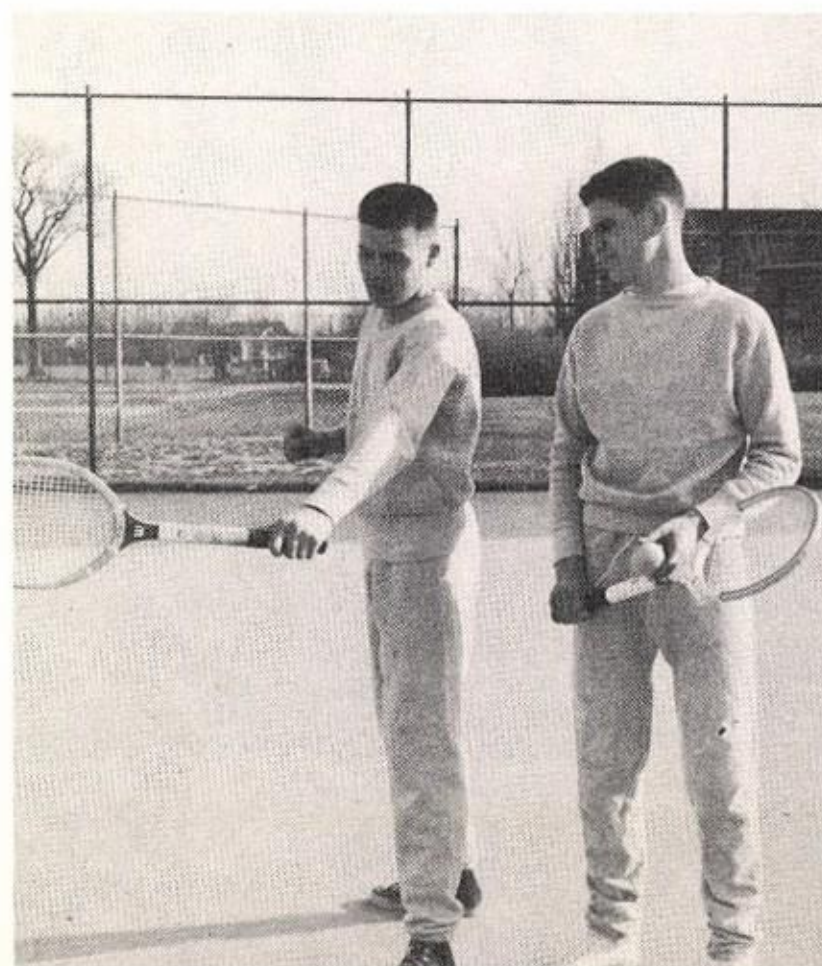

Dillon's Varsity players ranked equally in tennis skill. John Helble, Doug Babino, Jerry Polisky, Tom O'Brian, Dave Kneip, and Todd Blum all showed well against each other with Helble, team captain, overshadowing the other fellows in some respects. Dave Kneip, a sophomore, was the most promising of the underclassmen crew. Dave's speed and stroking form left little doubt that he would be a standout in high school competition in his coming junior and senior years.

Fond du Lac and Manitowoc were rated as top contenders for the conference tennis championship. Manitowoc had held the crown during the '50 and '51 seasons. In the 1951 conference meet Appleton won fourth place.

Cinder Capers

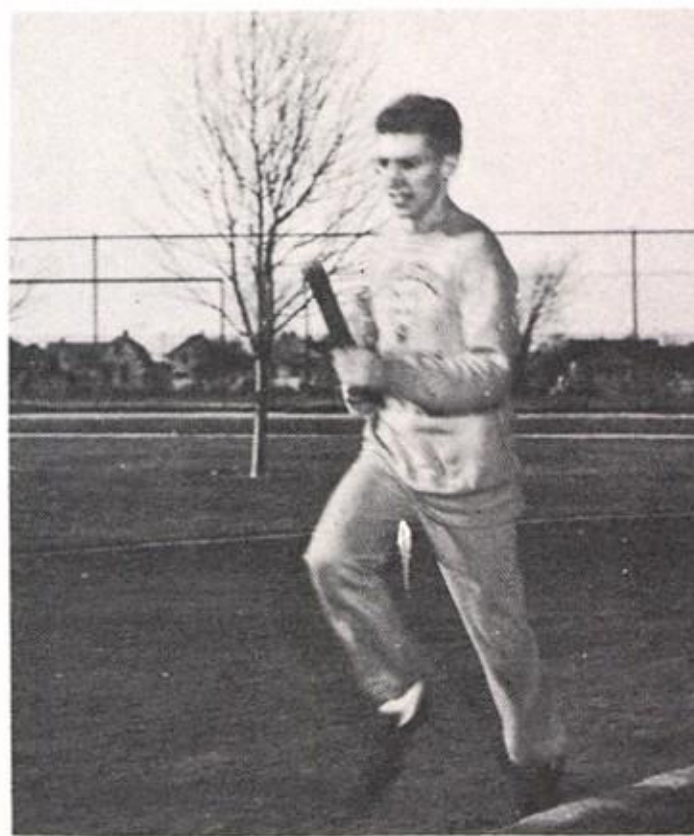

During early season workouts all indications pointed to another outstanding track season for Coach Marvin Babler and his Blue and Orange thinclads. Although the perennially-potent Appleton tracksters failed to score in the State Relays meet, the boys' showing was highly favorable and promising.

Babler worked with a nucleus of 10 lettermen and a sparkling crop of sophomores. In the track events there was bountiful talent. Such runners as Ken Felton, Dick Rosensweig, Phil Burmeister, Jim Reinke, Ossie Schmiede, and sophomores Carl Solberg and Jim Chudacoff appeared to be top cinder men. In Don Verbrick Appleton possessed one of the leading broad jumpers in the conference. Babler suffered one major disappointment in the loss of Gene Rosenbohm who figured to win the conference high jump championship. Rosenbohm came up with a knee injury and consequently was not able to compete. Several other standouts of the 1951 second place Terror squad were out of contention because of age regulations.

The Fox River Valley Conference Meet was scheduled for May 24 at Manitowoc. With his 1952 prospects Babler entertained high hopes of bringing home a championship banner won by the Appleton crew in '49 and '50 and relinquished in 1951 when the Terror thinclads dropped to second.

Let 'Em Roll

Every Friday for twenty-five weeks the Arcade Bowling Alley swarmed with high school boys including many young sophomores, fun-seeking juniors and experienced seniors. The boys competing in this year's boys' bowling league were all members of the American Junior Bowling Congress. The league under the supervision of Coach Lawrence Witzke consisted of eight teams sponsored by merchants and business firms of Appleton. As usual, boys' bowling played an important part in the Appleton High School intramural program.

For the second year a mixed doubles tournament was held during Christmas vacation. This year's trophy was awarded to Tom Griesbach and "Corky" Nabbefeld.

In the boys' singles tournament a big field of competitors followed sophomore Jack Brain with some fine bowling.

In this year's annual double tournament sophomores again shone. Two of them, Roger Fahrenkrug and Bill Schmidt, combined their skill in bowling to achieve the award.

All in all, this year's bowling activities rolled along well under the able direction of its officers, Gordon Myse, president; Arlon Jahnke, vice-president and publicity manager; and Tom Griesbach, secretary. These three juniors did a fine job in administering and presiding over the league.

Bowling Belles

On Tuesdays and Wednesdays, two bowling leagues, called the Sharps and the Flats, met at the Arcade. It was on those nights that the pins went flying, and the balls went into the gutter. There were approximately a hundred bowlers in the club. Before "competition bowling" started, there was a period of several weeks when beginners learned the know-how, and the old-timers got in shape. Then competition within the two separate leagues began. During the season they also learned to keep score — a necessity in marking up "300's".

One of the highlights of the season was the Christmas Vacation Tournament of which the mixed doubles were a part. Miss Pauline Gaertner and Miss Kay Hettig were the club advisers.

Terror Tumblers

Reitzner, Plamann, Massey, Engel, and Hollenback try the strength of the parallel bars.

During many of the half-times of the basketball games this past year an exhibition was put on by the Tumbling Club. The activities consisted of work with the trampoline, rings, mats, and parallel bars. Because of the chorus of oh's, ah's, and oof's, it sounded as though the trampoline had most of the audience appeal.

In the club meetings, which are held every Monday during the basketball season, the members work on various stunts. Work began in the small gym; but as the year progressed, it moved to the west gym. While the beginners worked on the mats, the advanced members were getting limbered up on the more difficult apparatus. The club, with Coach Black as its adviser, had approximately 35 members.

Modern Robinhoods may be found in the Archery Club, which meets each Monday afternoon during the fall and spring. Club members, who need not have previous experience in archery, are taught the fundamentals of the sport, including the proper care of equipment, the correct stance, and the most effective shooting techniques. With the use of targets they improve their marksmanship, and soon these bow-and-arrow enthusiasts are able to boast of many bull's-eyes. Soon, after much practice, they have the satisfaction of knowing that they have acquired a skill which takes time and patience.

On the Court

For nine weeks fourteen teams competed in Boys' Saturday Morning Basketball. There were two leagues: the National League, which consisted of six teams; and the American loop, which had eight. In the National circuit, Murphy's Restaurant and Pond Sports tied for first place, while Dewey's Lunch copied the crown in the American loop. Afterwards the two leagues combined in an elimination tournament which was held after school. Under the supervision of Coach Lawrence Witzke, the teams were sponsored by Appleton merchants and businessmen. The games were officiated by high school boys.

OSCARS

Craftsmanship Shield

Richard Boronow

On the bases of his character, scholarship, leadership, and service, Richard Boronow has been chosen by the faculty to receive the Craftsmanship Shield, the honor which is annually presented to the outstanding senior. As president of both Student Council and Curtain Call Acting, Dick was an unusually capable leader. His exceptional skill in speaking was frequently proven in forensic participation. His success in journalism is evident in his positions as sports editor and co-editor of the "Talisman" in his junior and senior years, respectively, and in his membership in Quill and Scroll Society. Dick received the Spector Trophy when he was a sophomore and attended Badger Boys' State as a junior.

An Industrious Journalist

National Honor Society

In recognition of their excellence in character, scholarship, leadership, and service, nineteen seniors were elected to National Honor Society by the high school faculty this year.

Formal induction into the society took place in an impressive assembly program April 23. Introduced by Mr. Witte, master of ceremonies, Mr. Helble advised the students never to be satisfied with less than they are able to achieve. Having repeated the oath after Mr. Witte, the new members received their pins and membership cards upon signing their names in the official roll. The honored guest speaker was Mr. Wilbur Close. The new members and their parents were guests at a tea in the Early American Room.

Badger Girls' State

Excellence in scholarship, patriotism, service, and character are the desirable qualities for which the junior class awarded six girls the honor of participating in the annual Badger Girls' State conference in June. Its main purpose to train youth in leadership and citizenship, the conference offers a chance for actual participation in politics and government. During the session the girls establish a government of their own, based on the democratic ideals of our country. The eight-day session held on the campus of the University of Wisconsin is sponsored by the American Legion, although funds for the trip are donated by community organizations.

Standing: Warner, Crowe, Schwebs; seated: Landis, Call.

Badger Boys' State

Sponsored by the American Legion, Badger Boys' State is an annual project dedicated to the education of youth in the duties, privileges, rights, and responsibilities of American citizenship. Fifteen junior boys were selected by a vote of the junior class to represent our school this year at the conference. They were chosen on the basis of character, citizenship, leadership, and scholarship. In June the delegates will attend a week's session of democracy in action in Ripon, where they will make a comprehensive study of municipal, county, and state government. Through political campaigns and the election of officers to this mock Democratic state, the boys will receive valuable experience in both politics and fellowship.

After the convention each delegate will relate his Badger State experiences to the civic group or service organization which financed his trip.

Standing: DeLand, Rosensweig, Vogt, Duhnke, Kappell, Arft, Yule; seated: Clark, Saecker, Yee, Hardt, Ohman, Myse, Hartman.
